Your Dental Health Pediatric Health Care

February marks the national pediatric health care month and we wanted to take this opportunity to review with our patients some of our recommendations and protocols for pediatric dental care.

First we are excited to announce and welcome the addition of Dr. Mary

Egan to the Center for Premier Dentistry. Dr. Egan limits her practice to pediatric care here at the Center for Premier Dentistry and has proven to be a valuable new member of our team. Her warm and caring personality coupled with her high level of knowledge in the treatment of children has allowed her to quickly settle into the practices philosophies, which further completes the offices ability to promote comprehensive dental care to all ages. Dr. Egan sees children from the ages of 12 months to 16 years old.

Just as in family care, pediatric care in the dental setting requires certain protocols and focus so the special needs of these patients are met. Dr. Egan offers this insight and has specific recommendations ranging from pediatric multivitamins, fluoride consumption, and oral hygiene techniques, to eruption patterns, space maintenance and orthodontic recommendations. It is never too early to establish good oral hygiene and routine office visits. We recommend your child's first visit be shortly after their first birthday.

Take advantage of the awareness of Pediatric health care month and call to schedule a visit in our office with Dr. Egan today. 941-924-7571
